I was wondering if this happens to other users too. Hence, I just installed the previous version of the browser in order to be able to download the.exe versions of Canary. If anyone has already faced this, please do let me know. Click to expand... Thank you for informing us about this. As I told you, I sent a detailed bug report to the Edge team. Since you know that I'm not allowed to disclose the information, here is a link to the bug report: I am one of those people who use Edge as my main browser and I would use it very frequently, as well as, play some games, chat with my friends and surf the web. There is no problem with using it, however, I'd like to use the oneditfunc callback. I am trying to call it in the following way: `$("#jsGrid").jqGrid({ url: '/query/', datatype: 'json', mtype: 'GET', datastr: obj, colNames: ['Action', 'Type', 'Date'], colModel: [{name:'action', index:'action', width:80, hidden:true}, {name:'type', index:'type', width:80, align: "left", editable: true, edittype: "select", editoptions: {value: , size: 20}, editable 82157476af`
